

ABSTRACT

A method for reducing gold embrittlement in solder joints, and a copper-bearing solder according to the method, are disclosed. Embodiments of the invention comprise adding copper to non-copper based solder, such as tin-lead solder. The embodiments may further comprise using the copper-bearing solder as a solder interconnect on a gold-nickel pad.